here is why: lymphedema is an abnormal accumulation of water and protein molecules in the body’s soft tissues, which is caused by a dysfunction of the lymphatic system he also learned that when insulin resistance is an underlying factor in hypertension, it often responds very well to nutritional therapies and exercise you recognize the repressive aspirations of your university friends lem and rhea, but only because these two people expressed their aspirations openly